"Krishnapriya Social Welfare Charitable Trust: Nurturing Lives and Giving Back to the Community"

Krishnapriya Social Welfare Charitable Trust is committed to making a difference in our society by focusing on various activities that promote the well-being of people and the environment. As the founder, I am proud to lead an organization that plants trees, adapting and caring for cows, giving medical treatment to those in need, and supporting orphanages.

Our tree-planting initiatives help fight climate change and create greener spaces for future generations. By taking care of cows, we show our respect for nature and contribute to sustainable agriculture. Our medical camps provide much-needed healthcare to those who cannot afford it, improving their quality of life.

We also work closely with orphanages, providing them with food, clothing, and educational support. Our goal is to offer these children a stable and nurturing environment where they can grow and thrive.

Through these activities and more, we aim to create a positive impact in the lives of individuals and the community as a whole. Join us in our mission to nurture lives and give back to the world around us. Together, we can build a brighter future for everyone.

Your humble-
Mrs. Kavita Giri (Shimpi)

COW PROTECTION AND OUR CHERISHED TRADITIONAL CULTURE!

The Krishnapriya Social Welfare Charitable Trust (Maharashtra) is dedicated to the noble cause of cow protection and service. Our organization holds a deep sense of duty and reverence for these sacred animals, which are central to our cultural heritage and traditions. By safeguarding cows and ensuring their well-being, the Trust strives to uphold the rich legacy of Hinduism and its core values.

Our mission extends far beyond mere protection; we actively nurture and care for these revered animals, providing them with shelter, nourishment, and medical care. This unwavering commitment is made possible by the selfless dedication of hundreds of Gorakshak (cow protectors) and thousands of Gosevaks (cow caretakers) who work tirelessly day and night.

These devoted individuals play a vital role in our efforts, contributing their time, energy, and resources to maintain a harmonious and nurturing environment for the cows. They work closely with local communities to promote awareness of the importance of cow protection and its significance in Hindu culture.

We believe that by serving cows, we are also serving humanity and preserving the natural balance of our ecosystem. Join us in our mission to safeguard these gentle beings and protect our shared heritage for future generations.

SUCCESSFUL BATTLE AGAINST THE SOCIAL EVIL OF GOHATYA WITH YOUR SPONTANEOUS CONTRIBUTION!"

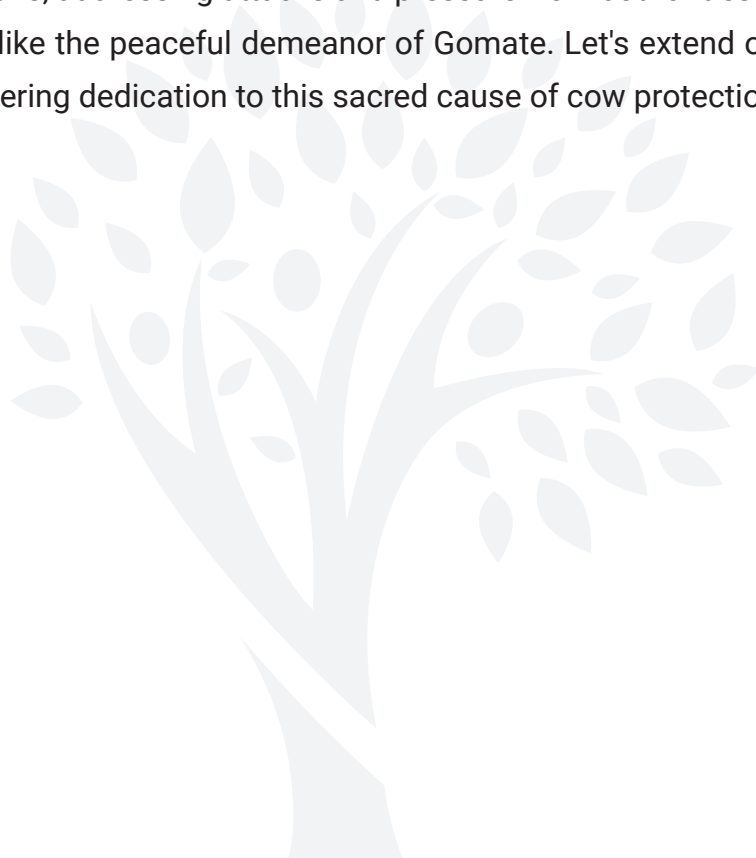

The inspiration behind this noble cause stems from Mrs. Kavita Shimpi (Giri) of the the parents' house . One day, as Mrs. Mala Vitthal Giri, guided by her boundless love for cows, was shopping in the market, she came across a butcher leading a cow and its calf to be sold for slaughter. Moved by compassion, she offered the butcher a higher price and took the cows and calves under her care. This marked the beginning of a tradition in the Giri and Shimpi families, dedicated to cow protection and conservation.

The Krishnapriya Social Welfare Charitable Trust is dedicated to this noble cause, sacrificing their own jobs, business, and time, day and night. They tirelessly raise awareness about Goseva (cow protection) and the sanctity of cows. The Trust stands at the forefront against the cruel practice of cow slaughter, rescuing hundreds of cows and bulls from slaughterhouses. They work to educate the public and highlight the social issues surrounding beef consumption and cow slaughter. Additionally, they work towards justice for the harassment faced by cow guards and gosevaks, addressing attacks and pressure from authorities. Despite these challenges, the Trust remains steadfast, much like the peaceful demeanor of Gomate. Let's extend our gratitude to all the Gosevaks and Gopremi for their unwavering dedication to this sacred cause of cow protection.

Sincerely
